DEMOLISHING THE OLD SMELTER

Concern that Has Been Attempts to Start Operation Closed 10 Years Is Being Torn Down.

Work of tenring down the old federal smelter, landmark of the northeastern suburbs of the city, is in progress. Workmen are now taking out what machinery is left in the place and tearing off the ironclad covering of the old building.

The smelter has not operated in 10 years, although it would have been put back into operation had the late Col. W. C. Greene been able to carry out the projects he planned for Chihuahua prior to the 1907 panic, which caught him so hard. He bought the smelter with a view to treating his ores here, but when he had to close down his Chihuahua properties, he sold some of the machinery in the smelter to a concern which removed it to Guaymas.

The Federal Copper company built the smelter about 15 years ago and for a time treated customs ores and ambloyed a large number of people. Quite a little community was built up around the smelter, as it was then far removed from the city of El Paso proper, and was no street car service within niles of the plant.

Now the smelter is surrounded by homes and street cars pass near it on two sisjes. The site of the old smelter and the surrounding land, owned by the old smeller company, will be used for a new residence addition to El Paso. The city simits now take in the smelter
